

Buying Guide: 5 reasons why you should buy our planters

- They are made of aluminium which will last a lifetime in the most challenging conditions, even when the hard baked-on paint is damaged.
- They are painted in fade-resistant colours and are easily wiped clean to restore to pristine condition.
- They are on heavy-duty castors to avoid back-breaking lifting, particularly when they are used for large plants.
- They are produced in a process that is accredited by a respected research body for its sustainability. The aluminium used in their production contains 85% recycled material and can be recycled again, never needing to be sent to land-fill.
- They are equally at home inside or outside.
